

The Daily Courant.

Thursday, June 19. 1707.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated June 21.

Vienna, June 8.

THE 6th of this Month a Courier arriv'd here with Letters from King Charles of Spain, giving an Account of the Battle of Almanza, and desiring speedy Succours, without which he cannot maintain himself in Catalonia, at least unless a powerful Diversion be given the French by an Irruption into Dauphine. Count Staremberg having put a new Supply of Provisions into Leopoldstad is march'd back with his Army to the Island of Schut. A Body of 15000 Malecontents is encamp'd near Newheusel, and another of like Force near Sered; so that General Staremberg will not venture to go upon any Enterprize, till General Rabutin puts himself on the March for Transilvania. The Diet of the Malecontents at Onoth was open'd the 20th of May, but there were such Heats and Divisions among the Deputies that nothing material was agreed, and the Diet was prorogu'd to a further Season. The two Ministers of the States General have prevail'd to have Baron Sirmay sent agen to Hungary, to renew the Negociation of Peace; and a Passport is desir'd of Prince Ragotski for him. All the Neapolitans here are order'd to be gone to their own Country, to assist in the Recovery of that Kingdom to the House of Austria, and they have been permitted to compliment the Princess Elizabeth of Wolfembüttel on her Marriage, which none besides have yet been allow'd to do.

From the Amst. Cour. and Gaz. dated June 23 & 24.

Vienna, June 11. The Enemy having taken Advantage from the Confusion and Dismay the Army of the Empire is in, to penetrate deep into Germany, the Emperour has dispatch'd several Couriers, to press divers Princes and States that have not yet sent their Contingents, to furnish them forthwith. General Heister sets out to Night for the Army of the Empire; and 'tis talk'd the 2 Regiments of Mentz and Wurtzbourg that are in Hungary, are order'd to return to Germany. Count Staremberg's Army were encamp'd at Tirnau the 5th Instant, since which Time we have had no News from them, because the Malecontents in strong Parties scour the Country between that Place and this City: 'Tis talk'd Count Staremberg himself is come incognito to Court. Count Zabor is confin'd in the same Room in which Count Nadasti was kept, and has been already once under Examination.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated June 24.

Ratisbon, June 13. The Bavarians begin to grow turbulent, wherefore the Diet of the Empire have under Consideration by what Means to provide for their own Security, and to Day there was an extraordinary Council on that Subject. 'Tis reported, that some Villages which were to furnish Men to work upon the Fortifications of Donawert, have refus'd to send them; and that the stronger Villages have threaten'd to burn the weaker if they send any. Those that have the Administration of the Government of Bavaria for the Emperour, have command'd all the Bailiwicks of that Country to send in at their own Expence a certain Quantity of Corn to the Town of Ingolstadt; but 'tis said they have insolently refus'd to obey.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated June 24.

Ratisbon, June 16. The Danish Troops that are in Quarters of Refreshment in the upper Palatinate, are in part recruited, and 'tis hop'd will soon march to joyn the Army of the Empire. The Swedish Troops grow numerous towards the Frontier of Bohemia, but 'tis suppos'd they design only to pass through Silesia to Poland.

Heilbron, June 16. We continue in Apprehension of being attack'd by the Enemy, who have a small Body of Troops at Lauffen within 2 Leagues of this Place. The Marshal de Villars keeps his Designs secret still: Some think he will march to Bavaria, because he has made a Motion towards Ulm; others, that he intends only to extend the Contributions as far as is possible till he be oblig'd to repass the Rhine.

From the Harl. and Amst. Courants, dated June 25.

Swabia, June 16. They make great Preparations at Ulm for a vigorous Defence; they have already a Garrison of 4000 Men besides the Burghers, and in Case of Need expect 2 or 3 Regiments more. A Detachment of 4000 of the Enemy being advanc'd to Blaubeieren within a League of Ulm, sent a Summons to the Magistrates to deliver up M. d'Argelos (who was detain'd as Hostage for the Debts contracted by M. Blainville when he commanded in that City for the French) and to pay 500000 Florins Contribution: The Magistrates having held a Council, resolv'd to deliver up M. d'Argelos; and to excuse themselves from complying with the other exorbitant Demand. The Enemy's Parties make Excursions over the Danube and the Iller quite to Memmingen, put the Country under Contribution, and carry off Hostages for it.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated June 24.

Frankfort, June 18. The Imperial Army are intrenching themselves in the Neighbourhood of Swabisch-Gemund. The Margrave of Bareith has reinforced the Garrison of Schorndorff to 4 or 500 Men, and order'd Colonel Taftungen who commands in it, to defend it to the last Extremity. We have Advice that the Marshal de Villars has pass'd the Neckar with his Army and is encamp'd beyond Carstat: He has detach'd about 6000 Men to besiege Schorndorff, and 'tis rumour'd that after two Days Attack that Town has surrendred: He has also detach'd some Troops to possess themselves of Aurich.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated June 24.

Nuremberg, June 17. The Town of Schorndorff surrendred at Discretion the 12th; the Garrison consisting of 500 Men are made Prisoners, and the Enemy have put in a Garrison of 600 Men.

From the Harl. and Amst. Courants, dated June 25.

Frankfort, June 19. 10 or 12000 Cuirassiers are making here with all Expedition, for the Army of the Allies in the Netherlands, whither several Thousand have been sent already. People begin to fly hither out of Franconia, the Enemy's Parties having begun to extend their Contributions into that Circle: The Marshal de Villars has demanded 100000 Rixdollars of the City of Heilbron, and 90000 Florins of the Town of Wimpfen. In Odenwald on the hither side of the Neckar, the Peasants draw together in Arms, being determin'd to make Resistance if invaded; and Heydelberg and Mannheim are garrison'd anew. 'Tis said the French apprehending the Garrisons of Philipsbourg and Landau will make a Diversion, have detach'd 6000 Men back to the Rhine.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated June 24.

From the Upper-Rhine, June 19. General Thungen is to form a small Body of Forces, out of the Garrisons of Philipsburg and Landau, and of some other Troops that are to joyn him. Major General Wolckerhausen is to pass by Coblenz to Day with 2 Palatine Regiments, one of Foot the other Dragoons, and to arrive at Frankfort the 22d or 23d. 'Tis discours'd, that the Marshal de Villars, after he has settled

settled the Contributions in Swabia, will retire thro' the Black-Forest, whose Roads he causes to be repaired; that afterwards he may send a Detachment of his Army to Italy.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated June 21.

Berlin, June 11. They write from Saxony, that the Designs of the Swedes are still impenetrable. At present they pay ready Money for what is furnish'd them for their Subsistence, because the Time they had set for Contributions is expir'd: But they put their own Price on what they buy, and give but half the ordinary Rate. An Estimate is handed about here, of the Contributions in several Kinds, which 'tis computed they have rais'd in Saxony, from the 1st of September 1706 to the End of May this Year; according to which the total Sum is 7 Millions 126000 and 23 Crowns.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated June 23.

Dresden, June 13. 'Tis observ'd there is extraordinary Familiarity and good Understanding between the King of Sweden and King Augustus. His Swedish Majesty is continually moving from Place to Place to review his Troops, whom the poor Peasants are still forc'd to furnish with Forrage and other things; but they hope to be speedily freed from this Oppression; tho' whether the Swedes will march to Poland or to the Emperour's Hereditary Countries is yet unknown, so secret do the Swedish Court keep their Designs. Almost all the Poles of Quality of King Stanislaus's Party are return'd to Poland, being weary of the Expence of living in Saxony, and having little or no Allowance from the Swedes: Before their Departure they promis'd to use their best Endeavours to hinder a new Election.

From the Antwerp Courant, dated June 24.

Dresden, June 14. King Augustus had a Conference Yesterday with the King of Sweden in his Quarters at Alt-Ranstad, and this Morning the Swedish Troops had Orders to be in a Readiness to march the 23d of this Month. 'Tis rumour'd here that they will be divided into 3 Bodies, and that one of them is to march into Bohemia, another into Silesia, and the third to great Poland: 'Tis certain that by Order of his Swedish Majesty the Roads to Annabergh and Satz are mending by several thousand Pioneers. The Saxon Troops that are taken into the Service of Great-Britain and Holland, will begin their March the 20th Instant.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated June 24.

Paris, June 17. 'Tis said the Marshal de Villars has sent Advice to Court, that the Division between the Generals of the Imperial Army rose from this; The Duke of Wirtemberg and the Prince of Dourlach were for making a Stand in some Advantageous Camp, and venturing a Battle, rather than expose their own Territories and those of the neighbouring Princes to be ruin'd; and the Margrave of Bareith would not risque an Engagement with Forces that on several Accounts he judg'd to be no Match for our Army, when the Safety of the rest of Germany seem'd to depend very much on the Success of so hazardous an Action.

Shields, June 14. The Russia Fleet, consisting of about 80 Sail, is now in our Road, with their Convoy of 14 Men of War. If the Wind continues fair, they intend to proceed on their Voyage to Morrow. We have a Report here, that there is a French Squadron gone to the Northward. The Feverham and Queensborough Men of War, are come hither, to convoy the Colliers for London, which to the Number of 300 Sail will be ready in a few Days. Two French Privateers, of 4 or 6 Guns a Piece, fell in with the Convoy of the Russia Fleet in their Way hither, and were taken. P. S. 2 Men of War more are come into our Road for Convoy to the Colliers.
